Thief steals cash belonging to woman dying of cancer

A CALLOUS crook stole cash from a frail and vulnerable pensioner after barging his way into his Harlow home.

The thief took more than £100 belonging to the man's 82-year-old wife, who is terminally ill with cancer in hospital.

The theft took place on Monday between 11.30am and noon. The culprit called at the home of Tony Pollard (85), who lives in the Staple Tye area of town, offering to clean gutters.

Mr Pollard – who suffers from angina, Parkinson's disease and tinnitus – politely declined the man's offer but the thief then asked to use the toilet and pushed past the frail pensioner.

Mr Pollard followed him and found him searching through cupboards and drawers in the lounge.

The thief, described as more than 6ft tall, then left but later Mr Pollard discovered the cash was missing.

His daughter, Sue Watkins, said: "The money was taken from a box. We're not sure exactly how much but it was more than £100.

"He took the notes and left the change but it belonged to my mother."

Mr Pollard's wife, Norma, was diagnosed with terminal cancer in September and was admitted to St Margaret's Hospital in Epping on November 25.

The family have taken the decision not to inform her of the burglary.

Mrs Watkins was travelling from her home in Wales to support her father when the theft occurred.

She said she was now concerned about the impact on her father at an already stressful and worrying time.

Here we ho, here we ho, here we ho!

CHRISTMAS came early for the organisers of St Clare Hospice's Santa Run when more than 200 people dressed from head to toe in red descended on Harlow Town Park on Sunday.

Fears that an early morning downpour would dampen the spirits of those taking part soon evaporated when the sun broke through the clouds for the start of the Star-supported event.

Registration fees have already raised around £3,500 for the hospice and more is expected over the next few weeks as the runners send in their sponsorship money.

"Despite the very heavy rain first thing in the morning we were delighted that the sun started shining just before the warm-up and that so many Santas came down to the park to join in our first ever Santa Run and Walk," said events fundraiser Tracy Meale.

Fire attack man awarded £500k

A MAN left severely brain-damaged following an arson attack which killed his girlfriend has been awarded the maximum possible compensation payout from the Government.

Kevin Chapple, who requires round-the-clock nursing support and is currently being cared for in a specialist neuro-nursing facility, has been offered £500,000 by the Criminal Injuries Compensation Agency.

The claim was submitted to CICA – the agency responsible for administering the criminal injuries compensation scheme which makes payments to victims of violent crime – by solicitors Attwaters on behalf of Mr Chapple's family.

The fire at the flat in Sherwood House, Bush Fair, in May 2005 claimed the life of Kerry Youngs (24).

Earlier this year two teenagers accused of starting the blaze were acquitted at the end of a six-week trial at Chelmsford Crown Court.

This week Mr Chapple's sister, Tracy, said: "We're delighted at the CICA's decision and we're relieved that this process is over. The money will go towards helping Kevin in the years to come."

Attwaters' managing partner Sheenagh Parsons, who dealt with the claim, said it was unusual for CICA to make the maximum payment.

"On behalf of Mr Chapple and his family, we are pleased that the CICA has offered to make the maximum payment," she said. "This is clearly the right decision. Kevin's injuries were so severe that they have stripped him of any quality of life and he requires constant care."

"Although Kevin has received the maximum award, it is a small amount for a man who has lost so much in the prime of his life. It is also considerably less than could have been awarded through a civil claim."

Gift-laden lorry leaves for Belarus

SHOEBOXES filled with Christmas goodies donated by people in Harlow, Epping and Roydon are on their way to disadvantaged children in Belarus.

Schoolchildren, Cubs, Scouts, Brownies, churches and other organisations packed the shoeboxes with gifts which included hundreds of hats, gloves and soft toys knitted locally.

Harlow MP Bill Rammell took time out to help load a lorry packed with 8,500 shoeboxes in 853 cartons – as well as 89 cartons of clothing for nurses, doctors and senior citizens – which left Harlow at the start of the four-day journey to Belarus.

They will be distributed over a period of five days by a team of 13 volunteers will go to schools, orphanages, hospitals and local communities in and around Minsk and Mogilev to distribute the gifts. Another lorry will be taking shoeboxes full of gifts from the area to children in Bosnia.

Volunteer Pat Greenhill, of Harlow Road, Roydon, said: "As one of the principal helpers I have been picking up piles of shoeboxes from schools, churches, residential homes, social clubs, Scout troops, Guide companies and lots of other groups who want to bring some love and happiness to children in other countries who have virtually nothing."

Shelter warns of waiting list woe

A HOMELESSNESS charity has warned it could take up to 16 years to house everyone on Harlow Council's waiting list.

A report by Shelter reveals that many of the 6,160 people currently waiting for a council property could still be in the same position by the year 2025 because of a severe shortage in the number of affordable homes available.

Only 383 homes were let by the local authority last year and the charity has now called on local politicians to make housing one of their top priorities ahead of the General Election.

"The figures clearly show the desperate lack of affordable housing in Harlow and how we are simply not building enough homes to meet the growing demand," said Caroline Davey, deputy director of Shelter.

"The news will be a major blow to thousands of people who may have to spend this Christmas, and many more to come, in rundown or unaffordable housing or temporary or overcrowded accommodation."

Harlow MP Bill Rammell said he already treated housing issues as his top priority and would continue to do so "I have long argued that Conservative policies introduced during the 1980s which reduced Harlow Council's rented housing stock has led to the hugely increased numbers we now see on the waiting list," he said.

"We now see history repeating itself with the Tories on Harlow Council showing their true colours and refusing to take advantage of new Government rules promoting the building of new council housing and refusing to accept Government funding to reduce rents for council tenants this year."

Conservative Parliamentary candidate Rob Halfon said the housing shortage would top his agenda in the election campaign.

"I have worked very closely with local homelessness charity Streets2Homes over the years and am well aware of the terrible problems this shortage of affordable homes can have on individuals and families," he said.

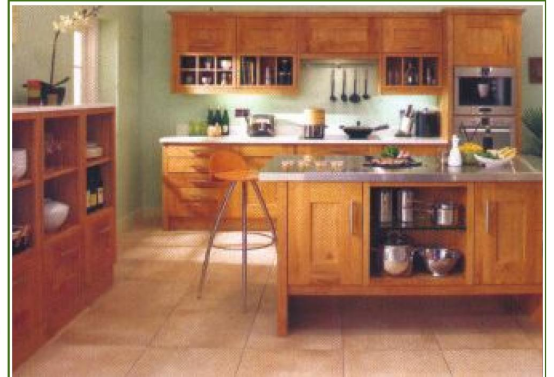

"A Conservative government will kick-start the construction of more affordable homes by incentivising new development, while making sure rents and charges are reinvested into the communities in which they were collected"

TWO Harlow men shed more than just excess weight before posing for a new calendar raising cash for the Prostate Cancer Charity.

Limo driver Steve (46), of Challinor, said: "My sisters- and brothers-in-laws said I didn't have the bottle so I wanted to prove them wrong.

"It's a good cause and I was proud that I had lost the weight."

Steve lost two stone in just a month by sticking to a strict regime of black coffee, porridge and four litres of water every day. But he admitted he was apprehensive before stepping in front of the lens.

"It was nerve-wracking, but after the first or second shot it wasn't as bad as I thought and it was a good laugh in the end," he said.

Network engineer Steve Gregg (34), of Bush Fair, plucked up the courage to pose with just a carefully positioned guitar. He said: "From the age of 14 I was always over 14 stone and this steadily went up until I was just over 17 stone.

"I always wondered what I would look like slim and what, if any, effect it would have on my life, but the biggest change was being noticed! One woman from work didn't even recognise me and I've been at the company for two years!"

The 12 men featured in the calendar lost more than 52st between them. About 80 per cent of the proceeds from sales of the calendar, which is produced by weight loss and management company LighterLife, will go to the charity.

MP on hand to open new premises of Shopmobility

HARLOW MP Bill Rammell has opened the new offices of mobility vehicle charity Shopmobility.

The service has operated out of a portable cabin since it was started 21 years ago. A move to a new permanent building in Post office Walk was agreed last August and work was completed in September.

Mr Rammell, who is a patron of the charity, was invited to perform the ribbon-cutting ceremony.

The charity lends manual and powered wheelchairs or scooters to anyone with a permanent or temporary disability to get around town.

Its success over the past 12 months has meant a doubling in the number of scooters it has available to 26.

"I am delighted to open this new building," said Mr Rammell. "They really deserve this new facility as I know how valued their services are in Harlow."

"The fact they have also doubled the number of scooters is also great news and I wish them every success in the future."

Quilters' gift

NEEDLEWOMEN in Harlow have woven a batch of blankets for a charity inspired by a character from the cartoon Peanuts.

Charity Project Linus UK took 20 quilts from local needlework group Sunshine Quilters to distribute to babies, children and teenagers in life-threatening or life-changing situations.

The 'cuddle' quilts are named after the character Linus who trailed around a security blanket for comfort.

Branch co-ordinator Pat Thompson said: "Sunshine Quilters draws women from all walks of life but each with a common aim, to use their skills to create beautiful quilts for others to share."

The latest batch of quilts will be donated to various organisations in the local area including special care baby units, bereavement and counselling centres and hospitals.

● To donate unwanted fabric, call Pat on 020 8502 0106.

Club's quids in

A HARLOW nightclub will be encouraging revellers to 'Give a Kid a Quid' throughout this month.

Liquid, in Birdcage Walk, is supporting the Echo Trust's campaign to collect donations from venues and redistribute it to children's charities. Staff will simply ask customers to donate £1 as they pass through the doors.

Echo has given thousands to children's health projects and hospitals across the UK. It was started in 2002 by Liquid's parent company, Luminar Leisure, and received registered charity status by 2003.

Liquid general manager Sean Henry-Baird said: "We will definitely be pulling out all the stops to ensure our customers have a great time and, if they want to make a difference to sick children, they can make a charity donation on the same night."

Crew's toys plea

FIREFIGHTERS from Harlow's Red Watch will be visiting Princess Alexandra Hospital on Christmas Day to deliver toys to sick children.

This week they appealed for donations of teddy bears and toys for children of varying ages from local businesses. Supermarket giant Tesco has already pledged a contribution of gifts.

Sub officer Steve Joyce said: "We're just trying to make some children feel better over the festive period."

Business wanting to help out can contact Steve on 07746 577724.

Vicar inducted

A NEW vicar has been installed at a St Mary Magdalene Church in Potter Street, Harlow.

Father John Corbyn was inducted by the Bishop of Richborough, the Rt Rev Keith Newton, the Bishop of Barking, the Rt Rev David Hawkins.

Father John was previously rector for the parishes of Cressing, Stisted and Bradwell.

County Hall stumps up £25,000 to help save town's CAB

THE Harlow branch of the Citizens Advice Bureau has been granted a stay of execution after being handed a £25,000 grant by Essex County Council to help fund its relocation to new premises and continue the services it provides.

County Hall carried out a review of all CAB centres across the county and found that the Harlow offices in West Gate Square were in need of immediate assistance to fend off the threat of closure.

The money will enable it to offer Harlow residents free and impartial advice on legal, debt and benefit issues – at least for the time being.

The move to larger premises could also enable training courses to be provided at the centre.

Lord Hanningfield, Conservative leader of the county council, said: "The Citizens Advice Bureau is an important information hub for the community and in the current economic climate is needed more than ever. "This grant has enabled a new premises to be found for the Citizens Advice Bureau but it does not secure the future of it. I hope other organisations are encouraged to invest in the centre and enable a better service for the people of Harlow."

Audit report praises council performance

HARLOW Council has responded well to the recession and provides good leadership across the town, according to a new report from a Government watchdog.

The Oneplace report, prepared by the Audit Commission, found the authority to be performing well.

The report focuses on how well the council manages its finances and the value for money it offers to residents before determining its overall performance.

For performance management the council was awarded an overall rating of three out of a possible four, meaning that it exceeded minimum requirements. But for use of resources it was awarded a rating of two, meaning it met minimum requirements and performed adequately.

The report identifies several key indicators of the council's improvement over the past year,

By CHRIS MOSS

chris.moss@hertssexnews.co.uk

including the delivery of 82 per cent of its performance targets, its support for small businesses hit by the economic downturn, a clampdown on anti-social behaviour and a marked reduction in waiting times for residents claiming benefits.

It also notes that regeneration plans were under way, more facilities for youngsters had been opened and found that the authority had set out clear ambitions for the district.

Controversial decisions to make cutbacks to important services such as Harlow Welfare Rights & Advice are also referred to in the report, which described them as examples of councillors being "willing to tackle difficult problems and to take and stick to tough decisions to resolve them."

However, the council's decision-making comes in for some criticism as not always considering the whole 'life cost' of projects, while risk management though developing is deemed ineffective.

The council is also given a dressing down on the public's general lack of confidence in its abilities to govern effectively, the report adding that the authority and its partners needed to do more to improve public perceptions.

Council leader Andrew Johnson said yesterday (Wednesday) he was delighted with the assessment as it acknowledged the hard work the authority had put in despite significant financial pressures. "This assessment states that we are delivering a range of good services and improvements for local people," he said.

"The report highlights some of our strong partnership work like helping to make Harlow safer and regenerating the town with the Gateway scheme and plans for Town Centre North moving forward.

"We know our residents quite rightly demand nothing less than the best so we will continue to do more working with partners to keep improving performance and providing value for money."

Game on for start of Paralympics

MARK Hall Sportcentre in Harlow was chosen as a venue to mark the start of the 1,000-day countdown to the London 2012 Paralympic Games.

Harlow Paralympian Anne Wafala Strike, pictured right with two of the youngsters, joined Harlow Council chairman Edna Stevens and pupils from Mark Hall, Harlow Fields Spinney Infants and Millwards schools for an afternoon of 'come and try' events including judo, cycling, wheelchair basketball and boccia, a type of bowls for disabled people.

The event was organised by the Essex Carrying the Flame team in conjunction with Harlow School Sport Partnership and Harlow Council.

HSSP development manager George Gardiner said: "It was wonderful to see so many children and adults enjoying activities that will be taking place at the 2012 Paralympic Games.

We can show council the red card over bins

SIR, Like many residents of Harlow we have limited space in our rear garden and an open plan grassed area at the front of our house. We are told that the upkeep of these areas is our responsibility and are tasked with maintaining to a standard that suits the environment and surrounding landscape.

Through no fault of their own, most residents are now having to leave their waste bins on their front lawn. Not only does this look unsightly, it could also lead to cross contamination of the waste as the bins are not lockable and could be vandalised.

The council states that if cross contamination is found, yellow/red card system could see the owner of the bin face a fine. How can it impose this fine when it cannot be proved that this was not an act of vandalism by virtue of having the bin in the open plan area with access to all?

Equally, what process will be adopted if the contents are emptied out of the bins because of an act of vandalism? Granted, the risk is reduced if we keep the bins in our rear garden and relocate them as requested the night before or before 7am on the day of collection, but this process is still open to abuse.

In effect, the council is putting people to work in this area. By this, I mean it is telling residents to push the bin from their rear garden to the front of their property boundary with no regard to age or ability. If you're putting people to work under the Health and Safety at Work Act 1974, the employer (in this case, the council) should roll out a safe method of working, a site base risk assessment and method statement.

To get from the rear of my house to the front I have to negotiate two poorly maintained slopes. With winter upon us, it is possible for me or one of my neighbours to slip, trip or fall in taking this route whilst carrying out the council's demands.

I understand the need to recycle and the methodologies used regarding collection, but I struggle when it comes to the council telling residents to abide by this or face bins not being emptied or fines for cross contamination.

I would also like to know the process I or my fellow residents can follow to issue the yellow/red card system or fines to the council if the bins are only part emptied, there is a missed collection or the system is abused by the contractor?

I cannot see how the council can hold a party to celebrate a successful rollout of the scheme with so many unhappy Harlow residents. Let's just remember who put this council in power and who can take this power away at the next election.

R. Woollard
Tyne Croft, Harlow

Leave the packaging

SIR, More than half of household waste is supermarket packaging which consumers are obliged to accept.

One idea active in Holland is for customers, after paying for their goods, to take the food from its packaging at the till and leave the recycling problem at its route – with the supermarkets. What a good idea!

Elizabeth Clare Oliver
Church Langley, Harlow

Pantomime or farce?

SIR, You can see pantomime season is upon us when councillor Tony Hall mischievously seeks to perpetuate the notion that the Labour Party supported the introduction of the wheellie bin scheme.

No, we didn't. We opposed the Tory budget that committed the town to this ill-considered, farcical scheme whilst simultaneously diminishing essential jobs and services.

The Labour Group on Harlow Council proposed an alternative budget that would have prioritised the real needs of residents at a time of considerable economic hardship, something neither the Tories nor Liberal Democrats were capable of doing.

We are committed to recycling and the development of environmentally friendly practices in the town, but any measure needs to be affordable, manageable, sustainable, sensible, acceptable and available to all. The Veolia contract ticks none of these boxes.

A celebration party has taken place at the residents expense, leaving behind the sheer incomprehensible communications strategy which has included duplicate letters which in turn has resulted in reprimands for residents for not putting their bins out whilst on holiday.

You may also have had a yellow card for not behaving properly with your rubbish or even been sent off with a red card. The reality is it is not a game, it is a pantomime and a costly disaster for Harlow.

Derek Fenny, press officer
Harlow Constituency Labour Party

Out-of-town shopper

SIR, How on earth can Harlow be under threat from a shopping mall being built just 20 miles away? (Star, December 3).

We have everything a serious shopper could

Global warming is the cause for lots of hot air

SIR, I read the letters from Len Fleming and Jim Rogers (Star, December 3) who are poles apart in their views on mankind's contribution to global warming but have one thing in common – much bluster but no sign of any actual evidence having been used to form an opinion.

It is quite clear the political climate favours the 'man is the cause' view, claiming scientific support. Perhaps unsurprisingly, the scientific camp – or the majority of it – backs this view, but then scientists, like most people, are pragmatic and are very well aware of who provides their funding.

Likewise, industry does seem set to make large profits on the back of this view and here I cite particularly those wretched fluorescent apologies for electric lamps that don't work as promised and, being unrecyclable, will pollute landfill sites with their toxic mercury content.

But is there such a thing as global warming? Yes, of course there is – we're still emerging from the last ice age. Some 20,000 years or so ago this country was glacier-covered. Somehow, though, I rather doubt whether the cavemen's camp fires had much to do with melting those glaciers.

Is the global temperature rising now? Maybe, maybe not. It seems rather to depend on whose data you look at and how much massaging has been done on it and the computer code used to analyse the data.

I'm afraid our own establishments, currently in the press, seem not to be the only ones altering observational data to fit the theory. The interested might search the internet for 'NIWA data adjustment' to see what our antipodean scientific colleagues have been doing to their data. Curiously, the adjustments made show an increase in global warming.

Climategate seems a useful web search term for failings closer to home and some pages show the computer code used in climate research to be appallingly botched.

Is man significantly responsible for any warming? 'No-one knows' is, I think, the honest answer. We do know the temperature of the planet has fluctuated wildly over many millennia without any contribution from mankind.

Is global warming a cause of hot air? Definitely!

Mike Scott
Great Plumtree, Harlow

ask for – major congestion, extortionate parking charges, shops that close on Sundays and ask you to leave five minutes before closing time, queues to die for and, to top it all, no clear major routes in or out of the town.

To think we have all this on our own doorstep but could travel 20-30 miles to get hundreds of shops which open long hours, free parking and clear access to specifically designed family orientated areas.

If the councillors of this town believe that we can compete with the likes of Bluewater, Lakeside and now Westfield, they are more deluded than I thought.

I have lived in Harlow for over 30 years and will continue to travel to a shopping area with free parking and late night shopping.

Wendy Lea

Exciting times

SIR, It is great news that Anglia Ruskin University has secured the necessary funding to build a campus in Harlow (Star, November 26).

Having a university will provide many young people with a chance of higher education from a great educational institution which they might have not otherwise taken.

This news is a major boost for our town and SIR, Following on from my previous letter asking for facts on man's contribution to climate change and Jim Rogers response, may I suggest he reads my letter again.

Nowhere did I argue climate change – or as he incorrectly puts it, global warming – is not happening. It is happening, as it has done in the past and will continue to do in the future. The Earth has been warmer, colder and sea levels higher and lower before.

I asked for scientific facts regarding man's contribution to the process. He has provided none.

The world-renowned British Science Museum cannot provide any either, only quoting the Inter-Governmental Panel on Climate Change. The problem with this is it makes conclusions from computer models from UK and USA data. These conclusions are only opinion because the data they use is not available for independent analysis and is kept secret even after Freedom of Information requests.

The IPCC uses data from computer models designed to predict future climate change. These computer models have been unable to successfully repeat past climates, let alone predict future ones. As a result, facts such as the medieval warming period are eliminated from data to make the current warming seem unique when it is not.

The IPCC admits the sun, water vapour, volcanic eruptions and the oceans all have significant impact on climate change, yet these variants are again eliminated from computer models when predicting climate change.

Add to this the revelations of leaked emails from the University of East Anglia, where it is suggested data has been manipulated to comply with the CO<sub>2</sub> argument.

D. Vigar
Parsonage Leys, Harlow

SIR, I've read with interest the opposing views about whether man-made global warming is occurring.

If a world-renowned professor at this country's leading climate research university could not prove it is occurring and had to fiddle the figures to make it appear to be so then no further comment should be necessary.

Ron Hughes

is yet more evidence of how Harlow is becoming one of the major centres in the east of England.

With a new university, a new sports complex and a new town centre, over the next few years Harlow is about to undergo a major transformation. There is no doubt that there are exciting times ahead for our town.

Robert Halfon, Conservative prospective Parliamentary candidate
Latton Bush Centre, Harlow

Singing their praise

SIR, I have been a resident at St Clare's Hospice and last week we had a visit from pupils of Stewards School to sing carols. The children were so delightful and we were so pleased to listen to such wonderful singing.

The music teacher, headteacher and parents should be proud of these children. They were so well mannered and brought joy and happiness to a number of people who really appreciated it.

I just wanted to say a big thank you to them all. They really brightened up not only the day but the whole week – and brought Christmas to the hospice.

I hope have a wonderful Christmas themselves. With the warmth and joy they have brought, they deserve it

Sackloads of Santas

MORE than 200 people had a San-tastic day in Harlow Town Park on Sunday as they dressed up as Father Christmas to take part in St Clare Hospice's first ever Santa Run.

Some ran, some walked while others ho ho-ed their way across the finishing line after completing the 4km course.

Despite early morning rain, the clouds parted and the sun shone for the start of the event, which was supported by the Star.

After a pre-run warm-up, the participants set off from the Showground and followed the route around the park and along, First Avenue, Nettleswell Road and back via Edinburgh Way. A running commentary was provided by DJs from local radio station Ten-17. First across the finishing line was Jared Bethell, pictured below right.

One of those taking part was Star reporter Dan Phillips. "It was hard work," he said. "What started off as a run for me soon turned into a stagger as I was showed up by my embarrassing lack of fitness.

"But it was worth it just to see hundreds of Santas running through the wet in the park.

"St Clare Hospice is a great cause and the people of Harlow kindly encouraged us by honking their car horns in support as they drove past. Even the sun even came out in time for the start."

Tracy Meale, events fundraiser for St Clare, said: "Despite the very heavy rain first thing in the morning, we were delighted that the sun started shining just before the warm-up and that so many Santas came to the park to join in. "It was fantastic to see so many people of all ages and abilities taking part, including babies in pushchairs dressed up as reindeers, families walking their dogs and the club runners who whizzed round the course."

The hospice was also presented with a cheque for £750 by Harlow Running Club, the proceeds of its 10-mile run held back in July.

Son set fire to room after row with mum

Callous thief steals cash from home of pensioner

"He's not doing brilliantly," she said. "He is very anxious at the moment; he is worried about being at home on his own now."

"Under normal circumstances he would never have let anyone in but he is extremely stressed about mum."

"He cannot walk easily anyway but he was just utterly vulnerable at this time."

Mr Pollard's granddaughter, Alison Cliff, said: "We hope that by going public with this we will shame someone. What they have done is absolutely disgraceful."

Officers from Essex Police have visited Mr Pollard to offer security advice to him.

A police spokeswoman said they are investigating the incident and have issued an appeal for witnesses to come forward.

Anyone with information about the theft or who was in the Staple Tye area at the time and may have seen the thief should contact DC Kevin Winn at Harlow police station at 0300 333 4444 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

A YOUNG man who started a fire in a room at his mother's house after a row over music has escaped a jail sentence.

Chelmsford Crown Court was told that Lewis Wager (21) had argued with his mother about the noise before starting a fire and storming out of the house in The Dashes, Harlow.

But instead of receiving a custodial sentence, Wager, who pleaded guilty to arson and being reckless as to whether life was endangered, was ordered to carry out 140 hours of unpaid work.

In addition, Judge Anthony Leonard imposed a six-month ban on Wager from going to premises serving alcohol and ordered that he should attend therapy programmes.

Prosecutor Lesli Sternberg said Wager, of Amburry Court, Harlow had been living with his mother for six months but had a problem with alcohol.

She said Wager had refused to listen to his music through headphones and when his mother asked him to turn the music off he pushed her backwards.

She then went and switched off the mains power supply.

"Wager went downstairs and returned back upstairs with a kitchen lighter," said Ms Sternberg. "A minute later he went out."

His mother went downstairs and was sitting down having a cigarette when she heard the smoke alarm going off upstairs. She turned the power back on, went back up and saw smoke by a press bench and mattress.

His mother managed to raise the alarm after the smoke alarm went off but an estimated damage of £5,000 was caused to the room, the court heard.

Ms Sternberg said: "Later, Wager came back down the road and told his mother: 'I love you, I didn't mean to hurt you.'"

Sarah Steggle, mitigating, said: "His mother was alerted by a smoke alarm and there was no injury. He said he didn't mean to burn his mother's house down."

"He's taken the episode very harshly indeed."

Passing sentence Judge Leonard told the defendant: "Leaving the house after setting fire is unforgivable."

Judge Leonard said: "What you did was terribly serious and very dangerous. In my judgement, it was as a result of anger while in drink at your mother's."

Tories favour a blue Christmas for council's tree decorations

CONSERVATIVE councillors have been accused of breaking with tradition after ordering a Christmas tree decorated with blue baubles for the Civic Centre.

The 18ft-high tree, which stands in the foyer at the council's offices in The Water Gardens, is usually decorated in red and gold – colours connected to Labour and Liberal Democrat parties – but this year the council has switched to blue, a colour traditionally associated with the Conservative Party.

Council leader Andrew Johnson said the decorations reflected the council's corporate blue and green colour theme. But a council insider told the Star: "They seem to think there's some sort of political statement being made but it's not about politics. It's Christmas."

Labour group leader Mark Wilkinson said: "The Tories must be getting paranoid. Surely they have other things to be worrying about other than the colour of a Christmas tree."

"They should be worrying about the effect they are having on Harlow such as extremely unpopular decisions to have a wheellie bin party, hiking up car parking charges and cutting services at the Leah Manning Centre."

However, Mr Johnson insisted the change of colours came at no extra expense to the taxpayer.

"The council orders a tree every year that is provided with coloured decorations," he said. "This year, instead of red and gold, we have opted for a more modern blue and silver decoration for the main tree that is more in keeping with the council's corporate blue and green colour theme in Contact Harlow."

"It's also a very popular colour choice for decorations at the moment and there's nothing to suggest we must have the same colours year after year."

STEWARDS: Pupils at the Parnall Road secondary donned their pyjamas during a charity day that raised more than £1,800.

And not to be outdone, teachers got involved in the fun by revisiting their own schooldays and dressing up as pupils.

The money was split between Children In Need and The Jennifer Trust, a charity supporting people affected with spinal muscular atrophy and funding research into the condition.

Assistant headteacher Marie Erwood said: "As usual I am so proud of the effort of the charity co-ordinators who made the day so successful."

"A huge well done and thank you to all staff and pupils who contributed."

LITTLE PARNDON: Pupils and staff transformed themselves into a sea of blue to support Anti-Bullying Day.

The school hosted a blue-themed non-uniform day and members of the school council released blue balloons to mark the 20th anniversary of the United Nations convention on children's rights.

"At our school we follow six school values and respect and responsibility were the focus for the day," said a spokeswoman.

"Promoting awareness of children's human rights can help support an understanding of the importance of respect and responsibility for each other." The day also coincided with Children In Need celebrations, which pupils supported by donating £1 each and holding a cake sale. The total raised was £320.

RUM TUM TUGGERS: Nursery tots turned up in their slippers and pyjamas to raise money for charity.

Staff at the Riddings Lane nursery joined in with the dressing-up to support the effort in aid of Rehab UK, which helps people with disabilities to become more socially and economically independent.

Traumatic brain injury is considered a silent epidemic as it often goes undiagnosed, despite being a major cause of disability in people under the age of 60.

"All the children enjoyed coming to nursery in their pyjamas and we've raised lots of money for Rehab," said a spokeswoman for Rum Tum Tuggers.

Union fury at withdrawal of paramedics' stab vests

THE withdrawal of body armour from front-line ambulance staff will put their lives at risk, a health union has warned.

The Association of Professional Ambulance Personnel have accused ambulance service bosses of being "in denial" about the level of danger paramedics are having to face on a daily basis.

Officials spoke out after the East of England Ambulance Service rated the risk was "low to medium" and said paramedics did not need stab vests.

Paramedics were issued with stab vests four years ago but ambulance bosses have now said they have decided to phase out the armour.

The decision was taken after a review of risk levels and took into account the fact that most other ambulance services did not equip paramedics with stab vests.

A spokeswoman said: "The outcome of the comprehensive risk assessment was that this was a low to medium risk issue based on incidents associated with blades or knives."

But APAP chairman Ian Boothman argued that the level of risk was increasing, adding: "The trust's decision to withdraw body armour for its staff in future is difficult to reconcile as more staff have been assaulted in the last year in Essex."

"APAP considers this a retrograde decision and seems to reflect a national narrative from ambulance trusts that appear to be in denial over the significant risks that 999 personnel face on a daily basis."

Some 95 assaults on ambulance staff in the East of England were reported in 2008-09, according to figures published last month by the NHS Security Management Service. Hertfordshire and Essex topped the list of counties with 24 attacks each.

Neil Storey, interim associate director of A&E services for EEAS, said the increase on the previous year was disappointing but suggested it may reflect a growing awareness among staff of the importance of reporting incidents.

Graham's hoping to cash in on his film star looks

FATHER-of-three Graham Parker is hoping to forge an unlikely second career as a lookalike for Oscar-winning actor Kevin Spacey.

His uncanny resemblance to the Hollywood star landed him a job promoting digital cameras at a new electrical goods superstore in the Lakeside shopping centre.

It was the first time Graham (44), of The Hides, Harlow, had taken on the role and made a dramatic change from his day job in the Metropolitan Police control room.

"It was fantastic," he said. "We set up the famous ID parade scene from The Usual Suspects. Then there was the opportunity for customers to have the picture taken with me. It was a real buzz."

Graham said that over the past few years there have been numerous occasions when he has been stopped by people saying he looked like the actor and so he sent off photos to look-alike agencies.

GRAHAM PARKER

On Thursday he travelled up to London to see the real Kevin Spacey who is currently starring in a production of Inherit the Wind at the Old Vic theatre.

The dog that fell 80ft and lived to wag its tail

THIS week we have yet another story of a family pet which survived a harrowing ordeal.

A four-year-old cocker spaniel called Nell was rescued after falling down a 24-metre deep mining shaft.

The lucky mutt, which seems to have escaped unscathed after being trapped at the bottom of the hole for two days, went missing while out for a walk with her owner, Peter Bell, near Colwyn Bay in Wales.

Mr Bell spent two days searching for Nell, pictured left, and was then told about a series of deep holes which used to be mineshafts in the area where she disappeared.

Suspecting his faithful friend had ventured into one of the shafts and become stuck, Mr Bell soon tracked her down and, with help from RSPCA officers, successfully pulled her to safety.

Her rescuers needed to use ropes and harnesses to get to Nell and animal welfare officer Mark Roberts lowered himself down to collect her.

Mr Roberts said: "It was a difficult rescue in bad weather conditions. There was debris and barbed wire at the top of the mineshaft and, after falling such a distance, her owners were aware that she could have been seriously injured."

"But when Nell was released she was running around, wagging her tail. It is truly remarkable that she escaped uninjured."

A relieved Mr Bell added: "It is hard to put into words how I feel; I am still in a state of shock."

"When officers opened the bag and she ran out I couldn't believe it. It was a miracle."

In Memoriam

JEAN FISK

Birthday 12th December
This year on your birthday
I don't know what to do.
For the first time, ever,
I can't spend the day with you.
I miss you, so much, everyday,
Wishing you were here.
I feel a part of me is missing,
& often shed a tear.
I think I hear you calling me
more so, in the night.
I sit up in bed, then whisper
'I'm here Mum, you alright?'
You loved to read the notices
each Thursday in the Star,
Which is why, I've wrote this just for you
So you can read it, where you are.

The seaside specials

By DAN PHILLIPS

daniel.phillips@hertsessexnews.co.uk

IT'S December, it's dark and it's cold. And it doesn't seem like it's ever going to stop raining.

But just for a few moments think back to the summer. It's June, you're by the seaside and the sun is shining.

In your hand you have a 99 cone with a Flake and the waves are lapping gently at your feet.

Now think back to the swinging sixties when bus tours to the coastal resorts of Southend, Brighton, Bournemouth and Margate were all the rage.

The chances are that if you were one of the many Harlow residents who enjoyed a day out at the coast, you were taken there by Biss Bros Coaches, which was based in Terminus Street.

An old advert for Biss Bros landed on the Nostalgia desk this week. It dates back to 1968 and no doubt will evoke memories of holidays past for many readers.

It tempts the town's residents with itchy feet to 'Get out with Biss Bros'. As well as trips to the coast, the company ran Sunday tours to Bath and Longleat House, and even Wales and the Black Mountains.

But top of the bill in June of that year was a day at the races, with tours to Royal Ascot, costing a princely 17/6 (that's 87½p in 'new' money).

The bus picked up passengers outside the Post Office in Old Harlow, The Stow and the town centre before heading off for hats and horses at the Berkshire racecourse.

● DO you have any memories of bus holidays in the 1960s and 1970s you would like to share with our thousands of readers? Write to Nostalgia, 6 West Gate, Harlow CM20 1JW or email daniel.phillips@hertsessexnews.co.uk.

NOSTALGIA UPDATE

A COUPLE of weeks ago we published a photograph of the first peg being hammered into the ground to mark the start of work on building Katherines School in Harlow.

Grant Woon contacted Nostalgia to tell us the girl at the front wearing the spotty top is his sister, Kim Woon. Standing two to the right in the zigzag dress is Maxine Evennett.

Another reader, Valerie Kimber who is also in the picture, got in touch to say that standing behind headmaster Mr Gledde is PE teacher Mr Stevens.

Can you solve the mystery of school photo?

Meanwhile, the Nostalgia desk has been lent two more pictures by the Museum of Harlow, both relating to Katherines School after building work was complete.

The first, below left, was taken in May 1977 and shows children playing outside on a bright sunny day. The second, below right, is of pupils having fun while tackling their studies in March 1978.

Life-saver

The quick-thinking of a mother-of-six has saved the life of a workman who fell from the roof of the MFI warehouse currently under construction in Edinburgh Way. Sandra Parker called an ambulance after spotting the man plunge 40ft.

Stag savaged

A stag which was savagely mauled by three dogs in Latton Woods had to be put down by a vet. A passing jogger spotted the attack, which was the latest in a spate of attacks on deer in the area.

Trio miss party

Three severely disabled people were unable to go to their club's Christmas party because an ambulance booked to take them there was used to take toys to striking miners.

OAPs' water woe

An elderly couple say they have not had a proper cup of tea for 10 days because of foul-tasting water. Alfred and Mary Pengelly, of Whitewatts, have complained their tap water tasted sour.

Due to the success of the Sapphire approach to selling homes in Harlow, we have decided to launch an office dedicated to Church Langley. At Sapphire we understand buyer behaviour and we know that buyers will tend to look online for properties as to looking in the high street, so rather than have expensive flashy premises; we invest our money in the marketing of your property online - that's what's most important.

Because our overheads are far lower than other high street estate agents, we can afford to offer lower commission fees. Once the promotional period is over properties can be sold for only 0.7%!

It's panto, ponies and fun for all the family

STARS OF THE SHOW:

IT'S time to prepare yourself for the ball as Harlow Playhouse gears up for the launch of this year's family pantomime.

Cinderella, which opens tomorrow (Friday) night with a sold-out show, will run throughout Christmas and the New Year before the final curtain falls on Sunday, January 10.

The spectacular show stars Sandra Dickinson, from The Hitchhiker's Guide to the Galaxy and 2 Point 4 Children, as the Fairy Godmother, CBBC presenter and Tracy Beaker star Ben Hanson as Buttons, and Rob McVeigh, who made it to the finals of Andrew Lloyd Webber's

chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

Any Dream Will Do TV talent contest, as Prince Charming.

Appearing alongside Sandra, Ben and Rob in the lead role of Cinderella will be Danielle Black, the talented young performer who won the Playhouse search for a star competition, and more than 40 local youngsters.

In a bold addition to the show, live ponies will transport Cinderella to the ball in magical style. The ponies are being stabled at Harlow's Pets

Corner during the panto's run. Producer Gary Telfer said: "We really wanted to have ponies in the show as we want to make it as magical as possible for the children. We've never used ponies before so this is a new experience for us."

"We're hoping the whole transformation sequence involving the coach will leave the audiences breathless."

He added: "The cast are really getting along and the show has really come together during the past week. It's taken a long time to get here, but we all can't wait to get started now."

Danielle said: "I'm absolutely loving it! The rehearsals have been quite hard but it's been so much fun."

"Everyone has been really easy to get along with and the cast has really bonded on the show."

"I'm really looking forward to it. I think I've grown up a lot since I was first offered the part."

"I'm feeling a lot more confident about the show and in myself. I think when I started I was a bit nervous but I'm not anymore."

Tickets for the panto can be booked from the Playhouse box office on (01279) 431945 or online at www.playhouseharlow.com.

what's on

MUSIC: Christmas comes early at St John's ARC in Old Harlow tomorrow (Friday) when the New Edition Singers present their festive concert. Deck The Halls is billed as Christmas entertainment in words and music, so expect a spectacular evening of cosy Christmas classics to melt even the frostiest of hearts! The show starts at 8pm and tickets cost £8 (including a glass of mulled wine and a mince pie) from (01279) 434028.

MUSIC: The world-renowned Alberni Quartet return to their spiritual home of St John's ARC on Saturday with the third in a series of autumn concerts focusing on the works of Beethoven. The performance begins at 8pm and tickets will be available on the door priced £15 (£12 concessions / £6 students).

MUSIC: The talented youngsters in the Essex Youth Jazz Orchestra embrace the season of goodwill on Sunday with a charity concert at St John's ARC. Led by musical director and leading UK jazz musician Martin Hathaway, the performance begins at 7.30pm and all proceeds will be donated to St Clare Hospice. Tickets costing £7.50 (£6 concessions) can be purchased from (01206) 798788.

Animals add a touch of magic to kids' Christmas celebration

TALENTED youngsters from the Phoenix Theatre School will bring a touch of Christmas magic to Pets Corner in Harlow Town Park on Saturday when they present a nativity play. Featuring cameo appearances from the popular attraction's own four-legged residents, the two performances – one at 11.30am and the other at 4.30pm – will both culminate in a visit from Father Christmas and his reindeer.

Admission to both performances is free, although donations to Pets Corner would be appreciated. Refreshments including hot soup, mince pies, tea and coffee will be available.

Theatre school principal Phil Dale said "The nativity play is always a magical event and for everyone involved in the school it has come to represent the start of Christmas."

"Last year proved that the show will go on whatever the weather and we hope that more people than ever come to support the school and Pets Corner and join in with the celebrations."

what's on at The Square

TONIGHT: Dust off your leathers for a night of neo-psychedelic desert rock as Incoming goes into interstellar overdrive. Headlining are London headbangers and Queens of the Stone Age soundalikes Magna Saga, while support comes from seismic stoner rock behemoths Nibiru and the quite fantastic (but not at all ferocious) We Found The Fox. Doors open at 8pm and tickets cost £4 (free for members).

FRIDAY: Prepare to have your brain bludgeoned into submission before being fed whimpering into a woodchipper as angst-filled promoters My Beautiful Agony present a frankly terrifying evening of impenetrably cacophonous shrieking. With a bill featuring heavyweight Welsh post-hardcore loons This Distance, genuinely disturbing metal mavericks Orikai and white noise peddlers Dying In Deep Water and Secrets Of Us All, there is a distinct possibility of leaving The Square with bleeding ears and a severely compromised IQ. You have been warned. Doors open at 8pm and tickets cost £7 (£6 members).

SATURDAY: Cult singer-songwriter, surrealist and certified loon John Otway treats The Square to an intimate evening of madcap poetry and tongue-firmly-in-cheek pseudo-punk. Backed by his Big Band, the clown prince of pub rock will be up to his usual high jinks – just watch out for the headbutts. Doors open at 8pm and tickets cost £8 (£7 members).

THE BOX: Cameron Diaz stars in a cautionary tale from Donnie Darko writer-director Richard Kelly about a family living in 1970s suburban America who are faced with a terrible moral dilemma. They receive a box with a red button: if they push it in the next 24 hours, someone they don't know will die and they will collect one million dollars. If they don't, the box will be taken away and they get nothing.

PLANET 51: The computer-animated comedy from debutant Spanish directors Jorge Blanco, Javier Abad and Marcos Martínez unfolds on a world far from ours where little green men, women and children live in domestic bliss. But the crash-landing of a dim-witted American astronaut (voiced by Dwayne 'The Rock' Johnson) causes chaos.

PARANORMAL ACTIVITY: Enterprising film-maker Oren Peli wrote and directed this much-hyped, low-budget supernatural horror movie that is set to make him millions. Shot at his own house in his spare time, his modest vision has bloomed into a 21st-century Blair Witch Project, scaring the bejeezus out of audiences with its deceptively simple narrative and grainy camerawork, captured by characters as they hunt for an evil spirit in their home.

LAW ABIDING CITIZEN: Justice is blind – and by the end of this gruesome thriller it's also horribly burned, dismembered and disembowelled as a family man (Gerard Butler) turns the tables on the lawmakers who let him down. Butler's brilliant inventor exacts bloody revenge on the prosecutor (Jamie Foxx) who agrees a plea bargain with one of the men who killed his wife and daughter.

THE TWILIGHT SAGA: NEW MOON: Chris Weitz's eagerly-anticipated rendering of the second instalment of the four-book vampire story is thoroughly entertaining and more polished than its predecessor. Hunky male leads Robert Pattinson and Taylor Lautner spend an inordinate amount of time with their shirts off as they vie for the love of Kristen Stewart.

NATIVITY! Improvised comedy about the preparations for a primary school nativity play. Shot without a script as a safety net, Nativity! is a feel-absolutely-wonderful treat steeped in festive cheer that delivers tidings of comfort and boundless joy for the entire family.

2012: John Cusack stars in the jaw-dropping, special-effects frenzy based on the premise that Earth will come to a dramatic end on December 21, 2012, as decreed by the Mayan calendar.

WHERE THE WILD THINGS ARE
certificate PG 1h41m

BASED on Maurice Sendak's beloved children's story, Where The Wild Things Are is not a sentimental coming-of-age story viewed through rose-tinted spectacles.

Spike Jonze's visually-stunning adaptation unfolds through the eyes of an awkward nine-year-old boy whose formative years are riddled with loneliness, despair and miscommunication.

There is no pretence of happiness by the time we reach the conclusion of this magical odyssey. Life is a struggle and, in the absence of a father figure, the boy will invariably go off the rails many more times.

Jonze and co-writer Dave Eggers take Sendak's original story – a mere 10 sentences and 338 words – and expand it into a 101-minute fantasy that attests to the brutality of childhood and the power of the imagination to temporarily keep harsh reality at bay.

Pint-sized hero Max (Max Records) doesn't feel like his mother (Catherine Keener) or teenage sister Claire (Pepita Emmerichs) appreciate him. Frustrations come to a boil when his mum brings home her new boyfriend (Mark Ruffalo).

During a struggle, Max bites his mother and runs out the front door and into a world which exists only in his imagination – the island home of a race of hulking, furry creatures called the Wild Things whose actions and emotions are completely unpredictable.

Horned-nose Judith (voiced by Catherine O'Hara) threatens to eat Max but he wins over the group's unofficial leader Carol (James Gandolfini) by pretending to be an exiled king. They anoint him leader and Max decrees they build a fort.

The other creatures, including KW and the goat-like Alexander, do his bidding but Max quickly learns that harmony isn't always possible.

Where The Wild Things Are is heartbreaking, anchored by a mesmerising lead performance from Records whose face captures every flicker of despair and joy during Max's extraordinary adventure.

The creatures are brilliantly realised using a combination of giant costumes and digital effects, while the vocal performances capture the personalities of these untameable beasts who share many of Max's woes.

Pushing boundaries of technology

AVATAR 3D & 2D

(showing from December 17)

FOUR years after his underwater IMAX documentary Aliens Of The Deep, director James Cameron unleashes his latest special-effects-laden blockbuster which is rumoured to push the boundaries of big-screen technology.

Paraplegic war veteran Jake Sully (Sam Worthington) enlists under warmonger Colonel Miles Quaritch (Stephen Lang), who is attempting to infiltrate an alien race – the Na'vi – on their home planet of Pandora.

The alien world conceals vast deposits of an ore worth millions of dollars. Unfortunately, Pandora will not support human life, so ground-breaking doctor Grace (Sigourney Weaver) comes up with a revolutionary plan to meld the minds of soldiers with Na'vi doppelgangers, who can move among the aliens undetected.

As his Na'vi alter-ego, Jake meets beautiful warrior Neytiri (Zoe Saldana) and he falls under her spell. He also manages to become part of the upper echelons of Na'vi society.

When Quaritch declares war on Pandora and launches an invasion, Jake and his fellow soldiers Trudy (Michelle Rodriguez) and Parker (Giovanni Ribisi) pledge their support to the aliens to repel the human attack.

With a fuel consumption of 57.7mpg and emitting a mere 129g/km CO<sub>2</sub>, the Volvo S80 1.6D DRIVE is large, luxurious and impressive. RICHARD M HAMMOND reports.

LIKE any industry, the motoring world has its own generally accepted practices. The difference with the motoring industry is that when a member opts to think outside the box and challenge convention a rebuke rarely follows.

If the idea proves to be any good, it's quickly accepted through the sincerest form of flattery; imitation.

Until fairly recently, generally accepted practice dictated that economy focused vehicles were spartan affairs. Even in the present climate – with fuel consumption alarm bells ringing in the head offices of even the most sports-focussed brands – luxuries such as air-conditioning and rear electric windows are still the first to face the chop in the name of fuel economy.

Enter the Volvo S80 DRIVE. Large, luxurious and boasting combined fuel consumption of 57.7mpg and emitting a mere 129g/km CO<sub>2</sub>, it's something of a mould breaker. Compare its eco-credentials to the sterling efforts of its closest competitors and it's the class leader by some margin. It is also the only E-segment model currently under the 130g/km barrier.

Of course, you're probably thinking for a manufacturer to produce a large, luxurious model that doesn't cost the earth either literally or figuratively speaking, something has to give. And you'd be right. The reason Volvo has managed to steal the march on its premium saloon competitors is by going where the others have feared to tread.

Although nearly five metres long, more than two metres wide and weighing 1.5 tonnes, the S80 DRIVE model uses a humble 1.6-litre turbocharged diesel engine with a modest 107bhp. As a result, performance is not earth shattering, but Volvo is the first manufacturer to show the strength of its convictions that even large premium car drivers will sacrifice performance for economy if the package is good enough.

It's a gamble, but not as big a gamble as you might think. Firstly, although performance is humble, the S80 DRIVE does not place the driver in a position where economy has to be sacrificed to access it. Peak torque is at 1750rpm, meaning much of the engine's pulling power can be found without having to push too hard.

Secondly, although the S80 DRIVE performance suffers compared to more powerful variants in the range, it's still not a drastically slow car. Boasting 15 per cent better fuel consumption than the 2.0-litre turbocharged diesel model, it's only 1.3 seconds slower to 62mph and has a top speed just 6mph short and still well beyond 100mph.

Volvo, of course, is better positioned than many of its premium rivals to pull off a small engine, large car combination. Quality, safety, practicality and, more recently, style have traditionally been given greater importance than sportiness by both the manufacturer and its customers. Those values remain a high priority.

Unlike the V70 DRIVE estate variant, few external changes have been required to squeeze the most out of the S80 DRIVE, meaning it remains largely unchanged from the face-lifted version only recently unveiled. Unlike the V70 it can still use smart 17-inch alloys despite its low rolling resistance tyres and hasn't required a change to the front grille design.

The S80 sits slightly lower but the rest of the changes are out of sight. An electric power steering system reduces strain on the engine, engine management software is tailored specifically for greater efficiency and the final three gears in the five-speed manual transmission are longer. The resulting package is one that's easy on the eye and requires no change of approach to milk the economy. With a normal ratio first and second gear the S80 DRIVE operates as normal around town. On the open road the long ratios come into their own, keeping revs low and refinement high.

Ride quality is superb despite the lowered suspension, no doubt aided by the lighter engine. Most importantly, those impressive stated fuel economy figures are easily within reach.

In SE Premium specification, equipment levels are strong. Leather and sat-nav are standard and the sculpted, highly ergonomic interior is a truly pleasant place to be.

Whether the Volvo S80 1.6D DRIVE will spark a trend for small engined large cars remains to be seen yet, if not, Volvo are sitting pretty with a niche but impressive model.

BATTS named community club of the year

BATTS table tennis club in Old Harlow was set to be featured on television last night (Wednesday) after winning the BBC TV East Region's Community Club of the Year award. The club, right, based at the Norman Booth Leisure Centre in Elderfield, received the prize at a glittering awards ceremony held at Tattersalls in Newmarket on Tuesday.

Coverage of this was due to be shown on BBC's Look East news programme. BATTS were in good company. Formula One's Brawn GP won the Team of the Year title, while Ashes-winning England women's skipper Charlotte Edwards picked up the Sports Personality award. BATTS secretary Neil Brierley said: "We're top community club in the seven counties that make up the BBC East region. "It was a special night and a tribute to the ever growing band of volunteers at BATTS but it was back to mopping the floors in the sports hall on Wednesday!" BATTS received the Community Club of the Year award for Harlow in September and picked up a similar title for Essex in November.

Tye bowlers in Denny last 16

Indoor bowls

IT is shaping up to be a phenomenal season for Tye Green Indoor Bowls Club.

Teams from the Bush Fair club in Harlow are chasing glory on four different fronts in national and regional competitions.

In the Denny Plate, a prestigious national fours competition, the men's team defeated Norfolk-based Wymondley Dell 77-57 to move into the last 16.

The team will take on Wellingborough (Northamptonshire) for a spot in the quarter-finals on Saturday (December 12).

Tye Green won this competition in 2006.

The club has already beaten Essex County, Colchester and Meadlands (Stowmarket) in this competition.

Meanwhile, in the London & Southern Counties, the fours team defeated Picketts Lock (North London) 85-75 in the first round. They face Tilbury in the second round in January.

In the Egham Trophy, a mixed national fours competition, Tye Green won 81-74 against Picketts Lock in the fourth round.

The team have already

HOPING FOR SUCCESS: Some members of the Tye Green fours team which has qualified for the last 16 of the prestigious Denny Plate, a national competition (HSP0615557) defeated Ilford, Barking and Havering.

They will play Riverain (Herts) in the last 16 on December 20.

Not to be forgotten, the women's section has enjoyed success in the Yetton Trophy, the ladies version of the Denny Cup and also a national fours competition.

The Tye Green team are into the second round after thrashing Ilford 126-48 last month.

But it is the Denny Plate that Tye Green can begin to think about winning and emulating the success of the 2006 team.

Steve Mitchinson, an excellent bowls player who has enjoyed success at the British Championships, is skip for one of the four rinks in this competition.

His side, also consisting of Maurice Crocker (lead), Stuart Langley (No.2) and Paul Smyth

(No.3) won 22-9 at Wymondley on November 28.

The other away rink, consisting of Andy Sales (lead), Harry Wood (No.2), Ray Buckner (No.3) and Pat Watford (skip), won 22-16.

The two home rinks endured mixed fortunes. The team skipped by Richard Haley (Barry O'Connor - lead, Martyn Ball, No.2, Jimmy Oakes, No.3), lost 16-21.

But the team skipped by Steve Tucker (Matthew Plumpton - lead, Terry Bird - No.2, Eddie Smith - No.3) won 17-11.

Mitchinson said: "Wellingborough are very strong. They have an ex-England international [Paul Broderick]. He has won national titles. If we can beat them we have every chance [of winning the Denny Plate]. But it's a big game this round."

Cats defeat has Hawks coach purring after disappointing start

A BAD start was overcome by Harlow Hawks who won 76-65 at home to Cambridge Cats National Founders Cup.

The Cats went 7-0 up in the first three minutes of Saturday's East group tie, but the Hawks sprung into life and scored 18 points. Nick Moss bagged 12 while the visitors added 12 more.

A Dave Spashett three-pointer set the tone for the second quarter which saw the Hawks outscore the Cats 27-11 and take a 15-point lead (45-30) into the half-time break.

The third quarter was marked by good team defence from the Hawks and the hosts were 14 points ahead going into the last quarter.

Hawks then increased their lead to 20 points.

The Cats then managed a 6-0 run, but the Hawks responded by slowing the game down and moving the ball well on offence. A pair of free throws from Freeman and a good drive from Zaf Niaz was enough to clinch victory for the Hawks.

Hawks player-coach Shab Niaz said: "I was pleased with the manner of the win. The whole team contributed which was great."

HARLOW HAWKS: S Niaz (24 pts), Moss (18), Norkeliunas (8), Haddow (8), Freeman (7), Spashett (5 pts), Z Niaz (4), Allan (2), Jones, Burgess.

● HARLOW Hawks completed a good weekend when they triumphed 98-64 at Circus Houghton Raiders in division one of the Herts County Basketball League on Sunday.

Shab Niaz top scored with 26 points.

California dreaming!

RUNNER Vicky Steadman was feeling Yankee doodle dandy after clocking a blistering time in the Ferry Building 4 Mile race in San Francisco.

The Harlow Running Club member finished as second female in 28 minutes and 30 seconds.

Several HRC members took part in the Essex County Vets Cross Country Championships on a very muddy and hilly 5.25 mile course at Chigwell Row.

In the men's Vet 40 race, first home for Harlow was Rick Ricketts in a creditable 39th place.

He was closely followed by Jamie Jephcott (44th), John Bull (52nd) and Matt Jones (58th).

In the men's Vet 50 race first home for Harlow was Roy Steven in a superb 22nd place, ahead of John Tennant (36th), Sean Flynn (58th) and Alan Cootes (68th).

In the women's race first home for Harlow was Linda Selby in 58th, ahead of Clare Williams (59th), Alison Bull (68th), Joanne Mills (70th) and Susan Dwen (71st).

Making his marathon debut at Luton, Lee Daniel finished in an excellent 3hrs 23.33.

He was closely followed by Jason Haigh (3:31.17).

Daggers pierce Town resistance

Cont'd from back

However, Harlow equalised three minutes later.

A free-kick deep inside Harlow's half was back heeled cleverly by Edwards into the path of Akinnawo, who took it on before firing a shot which went in off the upright.

Akinnawo went off injured after the break but there was little goalmouth action from either side.

Harris kept out a shot from Thomas who was through with just the keeper to beat on 72 minutes.

However, the stopper's late error ensured Dagenham moved into the quarter-finals.

HARLOW TN: Harris, Clemo, Adegbite, Green, Thomas, Pelley (Whitbread 76), Doolan (Taylor-Forbes 71), Mason, Edwards, Abraham, Akinnawo. Subs not used: Hunt, Osei. Att: 200.

● SAWBRIDGEWORTH TOWN moved second after beating Clapton 2-1 at home in the Essex Senior League (full report online).

Admiral move clear at top

WHITE Admiral beat Golden Swift 8-0 to go three points clear in the Harlow & District Darts League.

Servo Link defeated Harlow Hawks 6-2. Hawks' Russell Foxwell shot out on 100.

Staple Tye Colts beat Colt Hatch Social 7-1. Colts' Darren Harlow claimed a 100 out shot. United Glass lost 7-1 at Moot House Arrows in spite of a 180 from Len Culver. Arrows' Ron Green notched 180 with son Damian Green taking a 106 outshot.

Steve Salter's 180 helped TG Whites to a 6-2 win over clubmates TG Foxes.

Other results: Stow Snooker 4, Moot House 4; The Cru 0, Young Pretenders 8.

Ladies triumph in crucial promotion match

A CRUCIAL home victory was gained by Harlow as they beat fellow promotion contenders Crostyx II in a six-pointer.

Saturday's result brought fourth-placed Harlow to within two points of third-placed Crostyx and the former have two games in hand.

Harlow were forced to defend staunchly before they went ahead on 17 minutes. Emma Tweddle's pass found the waiting Sonya Amos on the near post and her resulting reverse stick shot hit the inside of the post only to run along the goal-line which allowed Jess Ashford to slot home.

Crostyx equalised 10 minutes later when they converted from a short corner.

There was no further score until 20 minutes were left when a short-corner shot from Carolyn Rushton was unwittingly turned into her net by an unlucky Crostyx defender.

Harlow went 3-1 up three minutes later when Georgina Esterhuysen's shot deflected off the Crostyx left-back and into the goal.

Crostyx struck back immediately via a powerful strike from a short corner.

An uneasy five minutes for Harlow was ended when Rushton doubled her tally before Ashford completed her brace after dribbling past two defenders and beating the visitors' keeper with a shot from the top of the circle.

Harlow have no game this weekend and their next match is at Redbridge & Ilford in nine days' time.

HARLOW: Rowley, Shearman, Stanesby, Green, Douglas, Tweddle, Ferdinando, Esterhuysen, Figg, Amos, Ashford.

Get Carter? Not with this defence

Harlow Tn 0, Waltham Forest 2

Ryman League, division one north

By ALAN SCOTT

THREE players made their debuts for Harlow Town, but newly-appointed boss Marvin Samuel knows he needs even more new faces to lift Hawks from the relegation mire.

The Hawks are 17 points from safety after two-goal hero Robert Carter sparked mid-table Waltham Forest to a comfortable win at Barrows Farm on Saturday.

Centre-half David Hunt made his debut. He lined up in a back four shorn of left-back Ijah Anderson, who is unlikely to play for Harlow again following the sad death of his cousin who was shot and killed in London.

Two players recruited by Samuel from London club Fisher also made their club debuts.

Trevor Elliott (18) disappointed in midfield, but Taser Hassan, also 18, looked promising on the right wing.

Harlow have now not won in the league since beating Ware on September 26.

The hosts arguably had the better of the first half but Waltham Forest led 1-0 at the break.

Emmanuel Osei was easily dispossessed and as Forest quickly broke, Carter fired in a wicked shot from just outside the box on 22 minutes.

Fuming Samuel showed he will not suffer fools gladly and hauled the player off eight minutes later.

He was replaced by the industrious Daryl Doolan.

"If you look at the first goal our left winger tried to spin in his own box," fumed Samuel, who also hauled off Oliver Cleaver at half-time.

Any hope Harlow had of getting a foothold in this match was undone only three minutes after the restart when the statuesque home defence allowed Carter time and space to nip into the box and fire home his second. Hawks keeper Ashley Harris got his hand to the ball but could only parry it into the net.

A mistake by Hawks defender Liam Thomas gave Carter the opportunity for his hat-trick but Harris made an excellent save.

At the other end, Doolan was unlucky with a speculative effort which drifted past the upright and Harlow were refused a penalty on 75 minutes when Ashley Taylor-Forbes tumbled after a challenge from a Forest defender.

Hassan's dangerous free-kick was punched away by Forest keeper Sam Tanner as Harlow applied late pressure.

Then on 84 minutes Taylor-Forbes forced a brilliant low save after cutting inside a defender.

Samuel added: "Defensively we were very naïve. The league does not lie. That's 13 goals in the last four games - and that is not good enough.

"I am not happy about the result or the performance. Football is all about moments - and we are not seizing ours and that's why we are at the bottom of the league."

HARLOW TN: Harris, Clemo, Adegbite (Green 60), Hunt, Thomas, Elliott, Hassan, Cleaver (Abraham 45), Grant, Taylor-Forbes, Osei (Doolan 30). Subs not used: Grima, Akinnawo. Att: 118.

The great escape!

He continued: "I understand the morale is low but the players have got themselves into this situation."

Samuel has added four more signings to the capture of striker Wayne Grant - who has been made club captain - and midfielder Jose Espinoza.

Wingate & Finchley keeper Callum Horton has signed.

Central midfielder Trevor Elliott and right winger Taser Hassan, both signed from Fisher and made their debuts against Waltham Forest.

Centre-half David Hunt, who has been playing for the reserves, also made his debut on Saturday. Central midfielder Jason Grima, snapped up from Cheshunt, was an unused substitute.

Waltham Forest player Shola Oyinoye comically approached Samuel while he was being interviewed by the Star on Saturday to ask if he could join the club.

"I have got players lined up. We just need to stop conceding goals," Samuel said. "My primary objective is to improve the team."

Meanwhile, keeper Jamie Waite has quit the club and defender Rickelle Christian has gone to Ryman premier side Boreham Wood.

Samuel will keep the present coaching staff at the club.

Rams in bottom 3

Dobson kicked the conversion and Harlow trailed 17-14.

However, the Rams' challenge faded in the last quarter as the hosts enjoyed the lion's share of possession.

Sudbury ran in unconverted tries through scrum-half Richard Stephen, substitute Tom Kelling and Cooper.

Harlow host top-of-the-table Thurrock this Saturday and will need to raise their game.

The Rams have been missing six first-team players - including player-coach Lee Harron - but it is hoped that these will return from injury.

HARLOW: Brown, Vanbeck, L. Bowering (Grimley 46), McFerran, Mackie, Dobson, Woodington, Eynon, Williams, (Branch 54), Romaine, Prindiville, Palmer, Blackwell, Clark (Roberts 60), M. Bowering.

Player badly hurt in defeat

MIDFIELDER Luke Krzoska will be ruled out for at least a month after he sustained severe bruising to his cheekbone during 10-man Harlow's defeat at Romford.

A loose ball struck Krzoska in the face 10 minutes after the break on Saturday and Harlow - without any substitutes and trailing 2-1 - were forced to play the rest of the match with 10 players.

Krzoska was taken by ambulance to Queen's Hospital in Romford.

He had X-rays there before he was taken to Royal London Hospital in Whitechapel where it was confirmed there was no fracture. He was discharged in the early hours of Sunday morning.

Romford 3, Harlow 1

East Men's Hockey League, div four south east

Harlow captain Joe Symonds said: "He had to go to the second hospital because Queens felt something needed to be checked on. The injury was just under the eye."

Harlow were delayed in traffic and their warm-up was confined to five minutes.

The hosts went ahead on 15 minutes when a defensive mix-up resulted in Harlow keeper Adam Johnson and his defence leaving each other to clear a ball and a Romford forward took full advantage to tap home.

Shortly after, a slick three-man Harlow move ended with Adam Ottley teeing up Rob Chandler to equalise.

Harlow fell behind again just before the break when a long ball was deflected brilliantly over Johnson's head by a Romford forward.

After going down to 10, Harlow sacrificed a midfielder and kept three forwards to try and rescue a point.

Harlow's work rate was excellent but they could not stop Romford from scoring again through a late counter-attack.

HARLOW: Johnson, Plumridge, Castle, Symonds(c), Jones, Krzoska, Smith, Shearman-Slack, Ottley, Kirk, Chandler.

Judo star in GB squad

A HARLOW-based judo player has been named in the Great Britain squad for the 2009 Tokyo Grand Slam event which starts tomorrow.

Faith Pitman (24) is among a 21-strong squad and due to compete in the U-63kg women's category.

Olympic medallists from across the world, including Japan's finest will be out in force and fighting for their London 2012 qualification.

This will be the fourth and final event in the new IJF Grand Slam circuit following the Paris, Moscow and Brazil events earlier this year.

Despite having automatic qualification for London, this will be the largest team that Britain has sent to one of these events.

Daggers pierce Town resistance

AN 88TH-minute winner by Graeme Montgomery ended the brave challenge of Harlow as they lost to Coca-Cola League Two high-flyers Dagenham & Redbridge in the Essex Senior Cup. It was 2-2 and extra-time loomed at Barrows Farm on Tuesday when Dagenham were awarded a free-kick. Danny Spiller's ball into the box should have posed no problems for home keeper Ashley Harris, but he elected to punch it away and from this Dagenham attacked again and Montgomery chipped over the Hawks custodian and into the far corner for his second goal. Harris had tipped a Charlie Bland shot onto the bar and over on five minutes before making a brilliant point-blank save after a shot from visitors' skipper Tommy Tejan-Sie. At the other end Harlow twice came close before they went ahead on 22 minutes. A long clearance down the left resulted in Julian Edwards crossing for Ola Akinawo to shoot past Daggers keeper Chris Lewington from 15 yards. Two minutes later, weak home defending let in Wesley Thomas and he lobbed Harris to equalise. On the half-hour mark, Harris did well to tip over a Tejan-Sie shot before Montgomery fired home from 18 yards on 39 minutes.

Harlow Town are marooned 17 points adrift of safety. There are 23 games left and 69 points to play for.

The new boss has signed SIX players already – and is looking to bring in a couple more before Saturday's home match against fellow strugglers Romford in Ryman division one north (3pm).

Samuel said: "We need everyone to stand up and be counted as a squad and not just as a team."

He remains confident that Hawks can beat the drop.

"Things will improve. I believe, with the right players, it's definitely possible [to stay up]. We will be working hard to achieve it."

Samuel (35) who was playing regularly at Boreham Wood, expects to play in most of the games.

Speaking after the Waltham Forest defeat, which extended Hawks' winless league run to 11 matches, he said: "I understand it's very disappointing for the town and the supporters but this was only my second game in charge.

"I have got to see what we are playing with. I understand their frustration. I feel it just as much as anybody who lives in Harlow. I am still confident."

Rams slip into bottom three

THE Rams slipped into the bottom three after their defeat at Sudbury on Saturday.

Harlow played with spirit and passion at the start but should have made more of their early chances which included Michael Dobson missing a penalty.

At the other end, Mark Bolton kicked a fourth-minute penalty.

The Suffolk side resisted Harlow's pressure before the hosts stretched their advantage from a breakaway try by Richard Locking on the half-hour mark.

Mathew Wooderson kicked the conversion before Harlow scored their first try on 35 minutes.

Winger Rob Mackie intercepted a stray pass and sprinted through for a try. Dobson kicked the conversion but Sudbury led 10-7 at half-time.

Dobson missed another penalty at the beginning of the second half which could have levelled the score.

Moments later, Bolton scored a try which was converted by Matt Cooper.

Harlow went down to 14 when James McFerran received a yellow card.

The resultant penalty was missed but the Rams cut the deficit with a 55th-minute try, while down to 14. Frances Brown intercepted a Sudbury pass and broke to score under the posts.
